Subject: Comments on the Draft Guidelines

Please not to move forward with the guidance on cost-benefit analysis (known as the OMB Draft Guidelines for the Conduct of Regulatory Analysis and the Format of Accounting Statements). As a matter of principle, one life should not be valued more than another. In addition, my concern is that this analysis could water down anti-pollution regulations and harm the health of senior citizens and other citizens as well. When we look at the greatest achievements made by humans, we must note that many if not most were made by mature people with a lifetime of experience and wisdom behind them. Don't rely on an analysis whose calculations come from a 20-year-old study from Great Britain whose author has stated has no relevance to modern-day America!

Naturally,
Joanne Lee
