Dear Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs Hunt:

The Office of Management and Budget is supposed to work for the citizens of the United States, not the multinational corporations who seem to seize every opportunity to make a profit -- even over our dead bodies. Do the people who work in your Office have grandparents? I do, and I can testify that they are not worth less than younger human beings. Allowing corporate pollution at a level of "acceptable risk" is a perfect example of a system that favors profits over people. Please revise your standards to a level that protects human life, not the right to pollute for profit. Otherwise, you're bound to get a reputation as a bunch of bureaucrats, working for the forces of wealth and corruption, rather than a group of human beings like the rest of us, who work in service to your country.

Sincerely,

Stephen Wingeier
