Dear Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs Hunt:

My comments on the Draft Guidelines for the Conduct of Regulatory Analysis and the Format of Accounting Statements are that the administration should not move forward with their guidance on cost benefit analysis. You should consider the value of all human lives equal without consideration of age. The analysis proposes to devalue an elderly persons life. Raise, don't lower, health and safety standards for any reason, especially not to benefit industry. This analysis could dilute anti-pollution regulations and harm the health of senior citizens.

Sincerely,

Lynn Dee
